

A Theory of the Flow of Metaphysical Thought Forms: “Changing Woman”

“It is to Changing Woman that we look as we search for the wisdom of life. While some may believe that they can defy Changing Woman’s patterns to make their own, wise people know that this cannot be done, for to try to change the ways of Changing Woman is to destroy all life. But those who understand the ways of Changing Woman, forever walk the Trail of Beauty.”

– Navaho Wisdom

Summary: Magnetism and seasonal changes in the Earth’s Magnetic Field affect human consciousness and the flow of metaphysical thought forms.

(Category II) Metaphysical Thought Forms:

Individual Scripts	Memories of Group Experiences
Green	Red

Group Core Beliefs	Memories of Individual Experiences
Orange	Blue

Morphic Resonance: The above grid of the four metaphysical forms is an example of Rupert Sheldrake's theory of morphic fields and morphic resonance - the re-sounding of morphic forms. His key quotes are "the effect of like upon like," and "things are as they are because they were as they were."

Seasonal Changes in the Earth’s Magnetic Field: Paired, Back and Forth, magnetic changes linked to (1) the Spring Equinox and Samhain (c Nov 1) and Lammas (c Aug 8), and (2) the Fall Equinox and Imbolc (c Feb 8) and Beltane (c May 1). These four Celtic cross quarter days divide the solar year into the phi proportion with respect to the Spring and Fall Equinoxes.

Assumptions: Pairing, Complementarity and Duality (Neils Bohr); Discontinuous, Nonlinear, Non-local ( A Spiritual Calculus). The Phi Proportion -The Golden Mean, Divine Proportion. Phi is the “arithmetic of pairing,” and a fractal for non-locality. The five-pointed star is a metaphor for the Phi Proportion.

This system transcends the (category III) physical (Yuti) realm of space and time known by the five physical senses, which is continuous, linear and local. (The Mathematical calculus)

Observational Parameters: Phenomena described by this Theory of the Flow of Metaphysical Forms would be affected by:

- Magnetic Phenomena
- Latitude (e.g., magnetic dip angles)
- Seasonality and seasonal changes in the earth's magnetic field
- Geology and the characteristics of Place
- Gender (e.g., in women: the immune system, e.g., auto-immune dis-eases, such as multiple sclerosis or lupus; in men, nervous system dis-eases, such as alcoholism or ALS/Lou Gehrig's dis-ease.)

Sensitive People: The Theory of Anomalous Cerebral Dominance (left-handedness) by the late Norman Geschwind of Harvard Medical School. For example, left-handed and gay/lesbian individuals are more sensitive to karmic memories, to creativity and the flow of ideas.

Classic Metaphor: The Classic Seven Path Labyrinth - a 4,000 year old metaphor that is found throughout the world and is the Hopi Indian Symbol of Earth. A seasonal interpretation of the classic seven path labyrinth reproduces the seasonal pattern of changes in the earth's magnetic field and of the Celtic, Christian and Jewish holidays.
